About Stonehenge, Avebury and Associated Sites World Heritage Site

The Stonehenge, Avebury and Associated Sites World Heritage Site (WHS) was inscribed in 1986 by UNESCO as it has ‘outstanding universal value’ and is deemed to be of international cultural importance. The UNESCO World Heritage Committee defines the Site’s Outstanding Universal Value as follows:

‘The Stonehenge, Avebury, and Associated Sites World Heritage Site is internationally important for its complexes of outstanding prehistoric monuments. Stonehenge is the most architecturally sophisticated prehistoric stone circle in the world, while Avebury is the largest in the world. Together with inter-related monuments and their associated landscapes, they help us to understand Neolithic and Bronze Age ceremonial and mortuary practices. They demonstrate around 2000 years of continuous use and monument building between c. 3700 and 1600 BC. As such they represent a unique embodiment of our collective heritage.’

Location of the World Heritage Site
Situated in Wiltshire, the WHS is a serial WHS made up of two landscape areas separated by approximately 40km. Stonehenge is located in the south of the county while Avebury in the north. Each chalkland landscape covers approximately 2,600 hectares or 26 square kilometres.
Description of the World Heritage Site

Stonehenge is the most famous and sophisticated stone circle in the world, aligned on the midsummer solstice sunrise and midwinter solstice sunset. The surrounding landscape contains many other prehistoric monuments including the Avenue, the Cursus, Woodhenge and Durrington Walls and an exceptional concentration of Neolithic ad Bronze Age burial mounds – over 350 in this part of the WHS.

At Avebury, the massive henge, containing the largest prehistoric stone circle in the world, and Silbury Hill, the largest prehistoric mound in Europe, demonstrate the outstanding engineering skills which were used to create a masterpiece of earthen and megalithic architecture. Other major monuments in the Avebury landscape include Windmill Hill, West Kennet Long Barrow, the Sanctuary, the West Kennet and Beckhampton Avenues, the West Kennet Palisade Enclosures, and numerous Neolithic and Bronze Age barrows.

There is exceptional survival of prehistoric monuments and sites within the WHS. These complexes would have been of major significance to those who created them, as is apparent from the huge investment of time and effort they represent. They provide a rare insight into the period, providing evidence of prehistoric technology, architecture and astronomy. Today these monuments and their settings form landscapes without parallel.

The Attributes of Outstanding Universal Value of the World Heritage Site

The following attributes contribute to the OUV of the WHS:

- Stonehenge itself as a globally famous and iconic monument.
- The physical remains of the Neolithic and Bronze Age funerary and ceremonial monuments and associated sites.
- The siting of Neolithic and Bronze Age funerary and ceremonial sites and monuments in relation to the landscape.
- The design of Neolithic and Bronze Age funerary and ceremonial sites and monuments in relation to the skies and astronomy.
- The Attributes of Outstanding Universal Value of the Stonehenge and Avebury World Heritage Site.
- The siting of Neolithic and Bronze Age funerary and ceremonial sites and monuments in relation to each other.
- The disposition, physical remains and settings of the key Neolithic and Bronze Age funerary, ceremonial and other monuments and sites of the period, which together form a landscape without parallel.
- The influence of the remains of Neolithic and Bronze Age funerary and ceremonial monuments and their landscape settings on architects, artists, historians, archaeologists and others.

The Vision for the World Heritage Site

From the Management Plan

‘The Stonehenge and Avebury World Heritage Site is universally important for its unique and dense concentration of outstanding prehistoric monuments and sites which together form a landscape without parallel. We will work together to care for and safeguard this special area and provide a tranquil, rural and ecologically diverse setting for it and its archaeology. This will allow present and future generations to explore and enjoy the monuments and their landscape setting more fully. We will also ensure that the special qualities of the World Heritage Site are presented,
Management of the World Heritage Site
